

Q3 2026 Quarterly Earnings Results

October 22, 2026

Forward-Looking Statements

This communication may contain “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, including statements related to the future business outlook, events, and expected performance of TTM Technologies, Inc. (“TTM”, “we” or the “Company”). The words “anticipate,” “believe,” “plan,” “forecast,” “foresee,” “estimate,” “project,” “expect,” “seek,” “target,” “intend,” “goal” and other similar expressions, among others, generally identify “forward-looking statements,” which speak only as of the date the statements were made and are not guarantees of performance. Actual results may differ materially from these forward-looking statements. Such statements relate to a variety of matters, including but not limited to the operations of TTM’s businesses. These statements reflect the current beliefs, expectations and assumptions of the management of TTM, and we believe such statements to have a reasonable basis.

It is uncertain whether any of the events anticipated by the forward-looking statements will transpire or occur, or if any of them do, what impact they will have on the results of operations and financial condition of the Company. These forward-looking statements are based on assumptions that may not materialize, and involve certain risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond our control, that could cause actual events or performance to differ materially from those indicated in such forward-looking statements. Factors, risks, trends, and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected, anticipated, or implied in forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to potential changes in domestic or global economic conditions, demand for our products, market pressures on prices of our products, warranty claims, changes in product mix, contemplated significant capital expenditures and related financing requirements, our dependence upon a small number of customers, and other factors set forth in the Company’s most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K and Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q and in the Company’s other filings filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”), including under the heading “Risk Factors”, and which are available at the SEC’s website at www.sec.gov.

TTM does not undertake any obligation to update any of these statements to reflect any new information, subsequent events or circumstances, or otherwise, except as may be required by law, even if experience or future changes make it clear that any projected results expressed in this communication or future communications to stockholders, press releases or Company statements will not be realized. In addition, the inclusion of any statement in this communication does not constitute an admission by us that the events or circumstances described in such statement are material.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to the financial statements presented in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”), TTM uses certain non-GAAP financial measures, including Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted EBITDA Margin, Non-GAAP Operating Income, Non-GAAP Net Income, Non-GAAP Operating Margin, Non-GAAP Gross Margin, Non-GAAP EPS and Free Cash Flow. We present non-GAAP financial information to enable investors to see TTM through the eyes of management and to provide better insight into our ongoing financial performance.

A material limitation associated with the use of the above non-GAAP financial measures is that they have no standardized measurement prescribed by GAAP and may not be comparable to similar non-GAAP financial measures used by other companies. We compensate for these limitations by providing full disclosure of each non-GAAP financial measure and reconciliation to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure. However, the non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered in isolation from, or as a substitute for, financial information prepared in accordance with GAAP.

See Appendix for reconciliations of non-GAAP financial metrics to the most comparable GAAP metric. With respect to TTM’s outlook for non-GAAP net income per diluted share, TTM is unable to predict with reasonable certainty or without unreasonable effort certain items that may affect a comparable measure calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP. The Company’s expected non-GAAP net income per diluted share excludes primarily the future impact of restructuring actions, impairment charges, unusual gains and losses including but not limited to unrealized foreign exchange translation, and tax adjustments. These reconciling items are highly variable and difficult to predict due to various factors outside of management’s control and could have a material impact on the most comparable U.S. GAAP financial measure for future periods. Accordingly, the Company has not provided the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure, or a quantitative reconciliation thereto, for its expected non-GAAP net income per diluted share because TTM is unable to provide such reconciliation without unreasonable effort. For the same reasons, TTM is unable to address the probable significance of the information.

³ Non-GAAP gross profit and gross margin measures exclude amortization of definite-lived intangibles, stock-based compensation, and unrealized (gain) loss on commodity hedge.

⁶ Income tax adjustments reflect the difference between income taxes based on a non-GAAP tax rate and a forecasted annual GAAP tax rate.

⁷ Adjusted EBITDA is defined as earnings before income tax (benefit) provision, interest expense, amortization of definite-lived intangibles, depreciation expense, stock-based compensation, loss on extinguishment of debt, unrealized (gain) loss on commodity hedge, unrealized (gain) loss on foreign exchange, unrealized (gain) loss on derivative instruments, restructuring, acquisition-related, and other charges. We present adjusted EBITDA to enhance the understanding of our operating results, and it is a key measure we use to evaluate our operations. In addition, we provide our adjusted EBITDA because we believe that investors and securities analysts will find adjusted EBITDA to be a useful measure for evaluating our operating performance and comparing our operating performance with that of similar companies that have different capital structures and for evaluating our ability to meet our future debt service, capital expenditures, and working capital requirements. However, adjusted EBITDA should not be considered as an alternative to cash flows from operating activities as a measure of liquidity or as an alternative to net income as a measure of operating results in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
