EPS (¥)	518.35	509.71	138.66	—

Reasons for the Revision to the Earnings Forecast

- Net sales: The forecast reflects continued growth in the Point business and the contribution from SQUIZ, whose results have been consolidated since Q2.
- Operating profit: Although D2C and Mercury are expected to fall short of the initial forecasts, significant profit growth in the Point business is expected to more than offset the shortfall. The forecast also includes the results of SQUIZ from Q2.
- Ordinary profit: The forecast incorporates a ¥340 million share of loss from bitbank, an equity-method affiliate, for the January–June period.
- Profit attributable to owners of parent: The forecast includes approximately ¥5.5 billion in extraordinary income expected from the planned sale of the Company's shares in bitbank, as announced on June 25.

Point Performance

- Sales in the Point Media business increased 1.6x YoY, driven by sustained strong demand for financial-sector advertising and the contribution from Point Income.
- Although the gross profit margin was temporarily weighed down by a timing mismatch in cost recognition following the sharp increase in Q1 sales, gross profit expanded to 1.6x the prior-year level.

*Figures for FY2021 and earlier are presented as reference values, assuming retroactive application of the new revenue recognition standard.
*Point Income's results have been included in "Point" since September 1, 2025.
*Due to changes in subcategories within the segment, the breakdown of the Mobile Service business for FY2021 and prior periods has been restated accordingly.
*Inter-segment transactions are not shown, as their impact on the graph is immaterial.
